

Observatory Hill Vineyard

Newsletter No. 5 2010

It is Spring at last and although Tasmanians know this still means some cold, wet and windy days, with even the occasional snow fall, these days are at least now interspersed with moments of lingering sunshine. The vineyard is in peak condition with pruning completed and bud burst commencing. Glenn is thrilled with the condition of the vines and we are looking forward to the new growing season with great anticipation. You will see from the 'News' below that Observatory Hill wines are much sought after and we are delighted to offer you the opportunity to taste the new Sauvignon Blanc and Pinot Grigio. The Grigio is the first vintage from grapes grown exclusively on the Ramsey Block and it is delicious!

Our Recommended Spring Wine

Observatory Hill Riesling 2008

Pale green/gold with a bouquet of citrus on top of unusual toasty aromas, the palate juicy, quite full and richly textured showing lively lemon sherbet freshness before those toasty characters add a savoury touch to the finish.

Graeme Phillips – Sunday Tasmanian, Sunday Taste 25.4.10

Newsletter Customers Only – Spring Special:
